Business Focus

Nexiant is the leading provider of MRO solutions. Our company offers subscription-based software, professional and managed services and point-of-use (POU) technology. Nexiant solutions help manage MRO inventory to reduce costs, improve asset utilization and increase production worker productivity. We ensure that the right MRO material is in the right place at the right time for a wide range of manufacturers: Energy, Pharmaceuticals, Food, Aerospace, Automotive, Paper and Pulp are select markets we service.

History

Established in 1999 as Dispensesource, the company leveraged its POU dispensing technology successes in the healthcare field to quickly establish the standard for managing MRO materials throughout the manufacturing marketplace. Through the constant development of new products and services offerings, Nexiant has grown to become a leading provider of MRO inventory management solutions.

Products and Services

Nexiant designs, develops, markets and supports the most advanced suite of MRO inventory management solutions in the marketplace. Nexiant provides subscription-based MRO inventory management software, professional and managed services and POU technology. Nexiant also offers program management tune up and optimization services for MRO inventory stocking positions on a subscription basis as well. The impact of implementing our MRO solution set is a decrease in MRO inventory consumption, lower inventory positions, reducing crib room labor, automated inventory re-ordering and reduced procurement costs.

Customer Base

Nexiant has established strong installed base of Fortune 500 customers throughout the US, Canada and Mexico
